Program Description

Questar III's Consultant Teacher program provides specially designed, individual or group instruction by a certified Special Education teacher. Supports are offered to students with disabilities who attend a private school and are identified by the district of location as a student in need of consultant teacher services. Consultant Teacher services are also available to students with disabilities who attend either the Rensselaer Education Center or Columbia Greene Education Center. Support can be either direct consult, with the teacher working directly with the student within or outside of the classroom, or indirect services, where the consultant teacher provides consultation to the regular education team. The consultant teacher assists the regular education providers in adjusting the learning environment and/or provides instructional methods to meet the individual needs of a student with a disability who attends their classes.
